A rescue of a different kind....

On Sunday 21 August following IRB training, a member of the Buttercups alerted me to a sea snake having washed up on "Shark Hole". I went to investigate and found it laying just above the water line.

So I alerted some members of the public that were nearby and asked them to stay away while I contacted WIRES. Natalie Vergara of WIRES came to the rescue and, along with new bronze holder Di Watt, valiantly rescued the sea snake and took it away for treatment.

The snake was later identified as a Yellowbelly Sea Snake—"The Yellowbelly Sea Snake is about 10 times more venomous than the Egyptian Cobra" according to Wikipedia.....

Thank you ladies for a great Job.

John Vergara
